

Activity 3: Building Blocks of Respect

List the names of five people in your organization that you don't know very well. Based on what you DO know about each of them, write what you think each person's unique perspective or background might be, and what that person's background might bring to the table if you worked together on a hypothetical project.

Co-Worker name	Their unique perspective or skill	Possible contribution to the project
1.
2.
3.
4.
5.		